UNIDROIT SCHOLARSHIP, INTERNSHIP AND RESEARCH PROGRAMME

2023 INTERNSHIPS - CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

Applications due 30 September 2022

Introduction

1. The International Institute for the Unification of Private Law (UNIDROIT) Scholarship, Internship and Research Programme is currently accepting applications for internships to be undertaken in 2023.
2. UNIDROIT is offering internship opportunities for exceptional later year undergraduate and postgraduate law students to work with the UNIDROIT Secretariat for a period of three months in 2023. While majority of the internship positions are unpaid, a limited number of stipends (600€ per month) may be made available for the top candidates, with preference given to applicants from developing countries. Candidates must be able to speak and write English and/or French to a professional legal standard.
3. Internships are to be undertaken in-person at the UNIDROIT Headquarters in Rome, Italy. Remote internships are only possible in extremely limited or exceptional circumstances, to be granted on a case-by-case basis.

Research areas

4. Candidates may apply for internships in relation to any of UNIDROIT

Application process

- 6. Interns are selected on a competitive basis and positions are limited.
- 7. To apply for an internship, candidates must submit the following documents in English or French:
 - (i) a short cover letter that addresses (a) why the candidate wants to undertake an internship at UNIDROIT, (b) specifies the project(s) or instruments they wish to work on, and (c) notes the period(s) in 2023 in which they would be available to undertake their internship.
 - (ii) their Curriculum Vitae (CV).
- 8. Candidates will be assessed on (i) their cover letter, (ii) CV and (iii) their English/French proficiency, taking into account the needs of the Institute.
- 9. Applications can be submitted to the Coordinator of the Scholarship, Internship and Research Programme, Ms Laura Tikanvaara: l.tikanvaara@unidroit.org.

Funding

- 10. Interns are required to provide for their own travel, accommodation, living and personal insurance costs while undertaking their internships in Rome. Unfortunately, Rome can be an expensive city and the 600€ monthly stipend that UNIDROIT provides to a limited number of interns is not sufficient to cover living costs. In addition to flight costs, costs for accommodation, food, transport and entertainment can - 2000€ per month.

11. UNIDROIT encourages applicants to seek other sources of funding to cover the costs of undertaking their internships, including through their universities or third party institutions (such as Erasmus). As the UNIDROIT stipend is not sufficient to cover all travel and living costs, interns who receive UNIDROIT stipends are also permitted to seek funding from other sources.

12. To avoid unnecessary administrative costs for UNIDROIT and disappointment for applicants, candidates are requested not to apply unless they have access to sufficient funding to undertake an internship in Rome, by way of scholarships and/or personal savings.

Timeline

13. Applications are due by 30 September 2022. Short-listing and interviews will be undertaken in October and November 2022. Candidates will be informed of the outcome of their application by the end of December 2022.
